

Annual Conference, 2019

‘If Sustainability is the Question, is Digital the Answer?’

11th-12th April, University of Chester

Never before has the sustainability of Higher Education Providers been so relevant. With the recommendations of the post 18 education and funding review imminent (and rumours abound), competition for students (and staff) being greater than ever, Brexit looming and pension costs rising, we need to take a hard look at ourselves, our strategies, approaches and models to ensure we can survive and thrive in the new environment. The AMHEC 2019 conference will explore the sector’s challenges and in particular consider how our institutions might use and leverage new digital capabilities to stay relevant and differentiate ourselves.

With speakers from within and external to the sector the 2019 conference is a must for your professional calendar.

AMHEC prides itself on encouraging open and honest dialogue between members, so as ever there will be plenty of opportunity to network with colleagues. With such a vast range of expertise in the room this is always much value to be derived by attendees.

The annual conference is the highlight of the year for AMHEC and this year promises to be no different.
